About these places

Quán nhậu & bia hơi (beer restaurants): Nhậu is how Saigon unwinds: plastic stools, buckets of ice, cheap beer and plates of food to share. Bia hơi is fresh, light Hanoi-style draught beer. Quận 4's Vĩnh Khánh food street (a designated food street since 2018) is the classic place for snails, seafood and beer.

Bars, pubs, craft beer & rooftops: From a live-music bar and a rooftop with skyline views to the craft-beer taprooms of Phú Mỹ Hưng.

New area: Nguyễn Hữu Thọ × Ngô Thị Bì (by Sunrise City): A brand-new eating and drinking cluster at the big junction next to Sunrise City, about 1.1 km from the house – the easiest evening out. Ngô Thị Bì was formerly called Đường số 15. Most places open around 16:00 and stay open late; hours shown were checked for one weekday and may vary by day. Cross Nguyễn Hữu Thọ at the traffic lights.

Sky Garden "Night Town D7": The Sky Garden food & commerce street in Phú Mỹ Hưng (opened 30 August 2024) runs as a night street from 18:00 to 24:00, between Nguyễn Văn Linh, Phạm Văn Nghị, Đường số 2 and Bùi Bằng Đoàn.

Tips

How to order nhậu style

Beer comes by the glass, jug or bucket of cans with ice; food is ordered a few plates at a time and shared. Staff keep a running tab – you pay at the end.

The new Nguyễn Hữu Thọ × Ngô Thị Bì area

About 20 minutes on foot or a short Grab ride. Most places open around 16:00 and stay open until 2–4 am (hours may vary by day). Nguyễn Hữu Thọ is a busy, wide road – cross at the traffic lights at the junction.

Don't drink and ride

Vietnam has a zero-alcohol limit for drivers and riders. Never ride a motorbike after drinking – take a GrabCar or GrabBike instead.

Vĩnh Khánh street

Busiest from about 18:00 to midnight. Point at dishes on neighbouring tables or ask for an English menu (Ốc Đào 2 has one). Agree on the price of seafood sold by weight before it is cooked.

Getting home

Grab (bike or car) is cheap and easy. Show the driver our address: 389A Trần Xuân Soạn, Tân Hưng.

Paying

Bars and taprooms usually take cards; small quán nhậu often only cash or QR bank transfer.

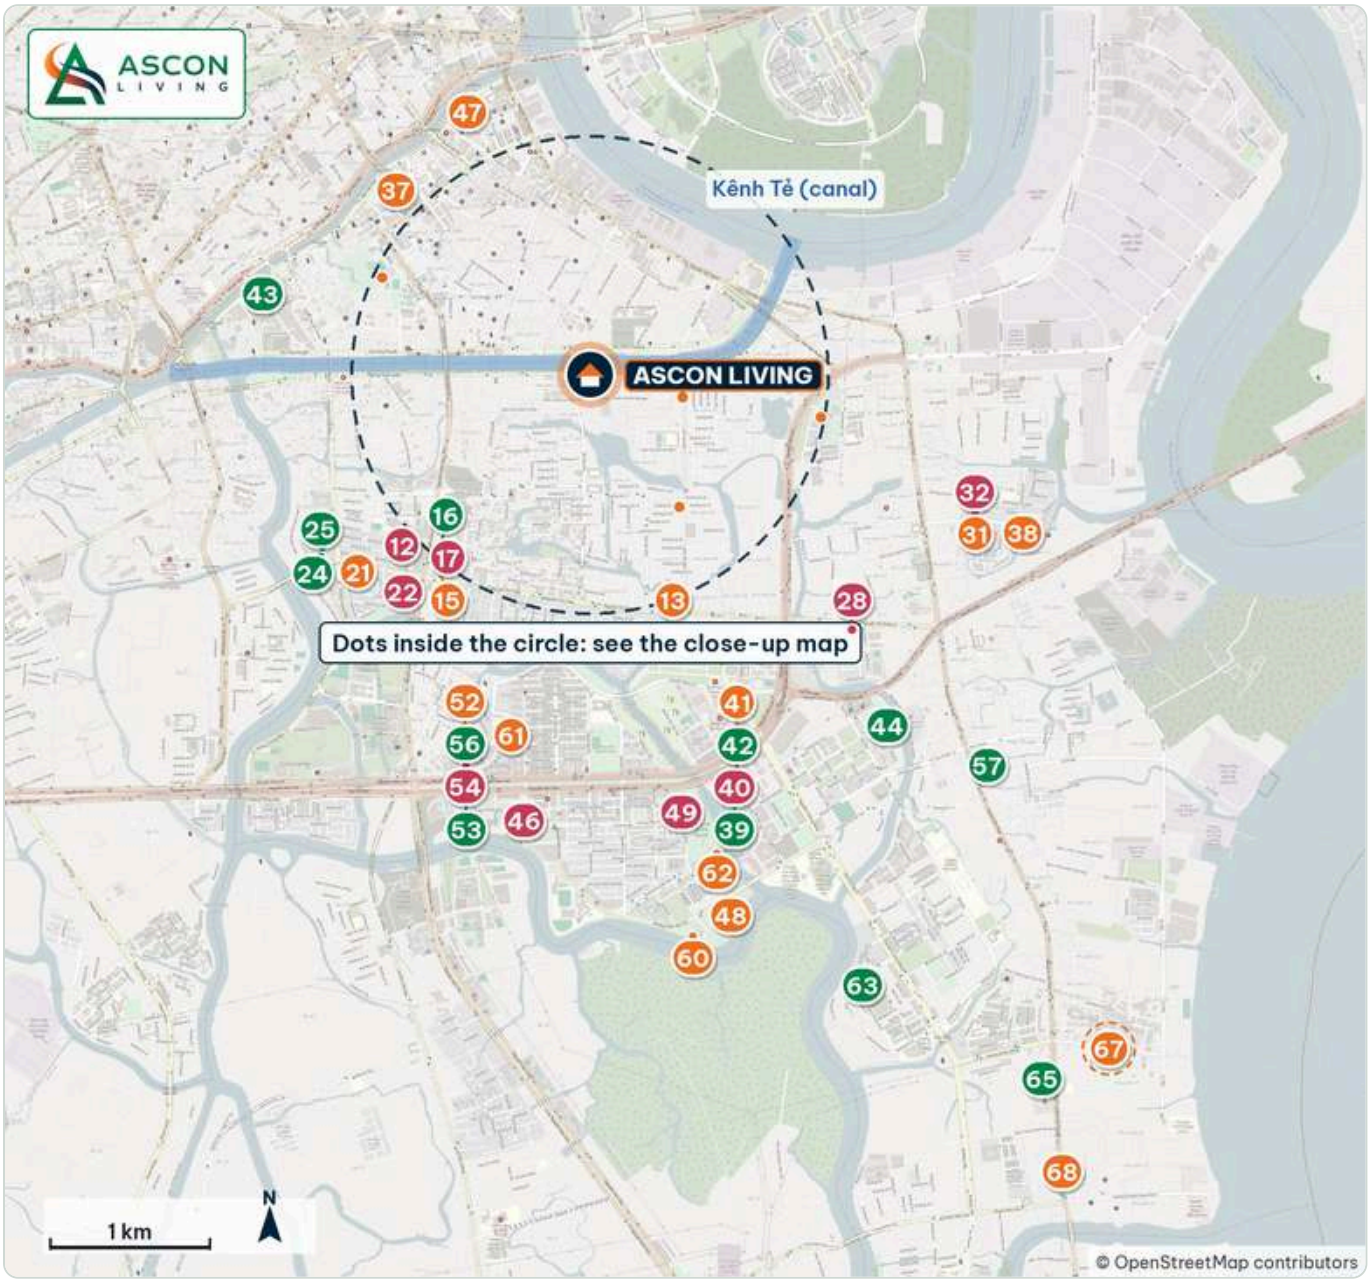

Kids & family

Play centres, parks, pools, family entertainment, kid-friendly restaurants, baby supplies and children's doctors near the house. Prices marked "approx." may have changed: please check before you go.

About these places

Temples, churches & places of worship: Dress modestly (shoulders and knees covered) and remove shoes where asked.

Tips

Getting around
Use the Grab app (or Be / Xanh SM) for cars and motorbike taxis: fixed fares, no haggling, pay by card or cash. Show drivers the Vietnamese name in this guide. Our address for the ride home: 389A Trần Xuân Soạn, Tân Hưng.

Traffic
Rush hours are roughly 7–9 am and 4:30–7 pm; travel times can double. Late at night trips are often quicker.

Best time to visit
Dry season is Dec–Apr. In the rainy season (May–Nov) expect short, heavy afternoon showers: plan museums for the afternoon and carry a light poncho.

Temples & pagodas
Cover shoulders and knees, remove shoes where asked, speak quietly, and ask before photographing people praying.

Opening hours
Museums in HCMC do not generally close for lunch. Check individual opening hours; e.g. Dinh Độc Lập is open daily 07:00–18:00. Night markets and food streets get going after 5 pm.

Money & safety
Currency is the Vietnamese đồng (VND); ATMs are everywhere. Keep phones away from the curb side (bag snatching happens), and cross streets slowly and steadily.

Heat & health
Drink bottled water, use sunscreen, and plan outdoor sights for early morning.

Massage & foot massage: Body and foot massage, including 9 places with blind therapists (navy ring on the map). Confirm price and duration before the treatment.

Herbal hair wash & head spa (gội đầu dưỡng sinh): A Vietnamese favourite: a long herbal hair wash with scalp, neck and shoulder massage while you lie back – relaxing and inexpensive.

Day spas, sauna, pools & parks: Day spas (incl. mother & baby care), the Golden Lotus jjimjilbang, public pools and parks for a quiet walk.

Tips

Tipping
Tipping your massage therapist is customary in Vietnamese spas and appreciated; the amount is up to you. Some spas include it in the price – just ask at reception.

Call ahead
Good spas are busy in the evening and at weekends. A quick call (or Zalo/Facebook message) saves waiting time; Google Translate helps at small places.

Confirm prices
Have price and duration confirmed before the treatment; promotional prices often apply only at certain times.

Golden Lotus (jjimjilbang)
Plan 2–4 hours. Entry is cheapest in the evening and on weekday mornings; current promotions are on the official website.

GOOD FOR ₫

Locals call it the 'morning market'. The covered hall itself is quiet these days – the real market happens outside: a long line of vendors' carts and pavement stalls fills Đường số 17 and the side streets around the hall. One of the liveliest street markets near the homestay.

Market street Đường số 17: from junction with Đường số 6 (market hall) to junction east of the hall (towards Đường số 8 area) (verified extent)

Market street Đường số 6: from junction with Đường số 15 to junction with Đường số 19 (approximate extent)

TIP Best 6–10 am. Very crowded and narrow – walk or take a motorbike taxi, not a car. Watch out for motorbikes squeezing between the stalls. Cash only.

HOURS About 7:00 am – after 8:00 pm (Thanh Niên report, 2023); busiest early morning and after factory shifts end

PRICE · Rating 4.5 ★

A lively unofficial street market (chợ tự phát): pavement stalls line both sides of Bùi Văn Ba from Huỳnh Tấn Phát to alley 192. Factory workers from the Tân Thuận export zone shop here after their shift. Authorities have tried to clear the pavements, so the size changes over time.

Market street Bùi Văn Ba: from junction with Huỳnh Tấn Phát to junction with Hẻm 192 Bùi Văn Ba (verified extent)

TIP Very busy around 5–6 pm – walk, don't drive. Pavements are full, so watch the traffic. Cash only; light bargaining for clothes is fine.

About these places

Shopping malls: Air-conditioned malls with supermarkets, food courts, cinemas and play areas.

Supermarkets: For the weekly shop with fixed prices, air conditioning and usually card payment.

Convenience stores (mini-marts): Water, snacks, drinks and small items, some open 24/7.

Tips

Cash at markets
At the chợ (markets) almost everything is paid in cash (VND, small notes). Malls, supermarkets and convenience stores usually take cards.

Go early
Local markets are freshest in the morning; many stalls close in the afternoon. Big chains and malls are open all day.

Prices & haggling
Food prices at markets are usually low; haggling is normal for clothes and souvenirs at market stalls, but not in malls or supermarkets.

Drinking water & bags
Don't drink tap water; bottled water is sold in every convenience store. Bring your own shopping bag.

Grab to the malls
For the malls, Grab (car or motorbike) is easiest: cheap and no parking hassle. For the ride home, just show our address: 389A Trần Xuân Soạn, Tân Hưng.

Bách Hóa Xanh
The big Vietnamese grocery chain (usually 06:30–21:30) has more branches nearby than listed here – search "Bách Hóa Xanh" in Google Maps. Fresh food is often discounted in the evening.

First time in Vietnam? The 10 essentials

Our address Show this to any driver: 389A Trần Xuân Soạn, Phường Tân Hưng, Thành phố Hồ Chí Minh. The full show-to-driver card is in the section "Show-to-driver & show-to-waiter cards".

Crossing the street Walk at a slow, steady pace and keep going; motorbikes will flow around you. Do not run and do not step back suddenly. Use zebra crossings and traffic lights where they exist, and raise a hand to make yourself visible.

Banknotes Vietnam uses only notes, no coins. Check the zeros: 10,000 vs 100,000 and 20,000 vs 500,000 (both blue) are the classic mix-ups. Prices are often written with "k": 50k = 50,000 VND.

Tipping Not expected, but appreciated. Check the bill for a 5–10% service charge first.

Shoes off Take your shoes off when you enter a private home and many temple halls; look for shoes at the door.

Toilets Malls, cafés and restaurants have the cleanest toilets. Carry tissues and hand sanitiser.

Tap water Do not drink tap water; use bottled or filtered water, also for brushing teeth (US CDC advice).

Transport Book cars and motorbike taxis in an app (Grab, Xanh SM, Be): the price is shown before you ride. Check the number plate before you get in.

Heat & rain It is warm all year (about 31–35 °C by day). From May to November, short tropical showers usually come in the afternoon.

Midday Some small family-run shops and offices pause around midday, but large museums and malls stay open (for example Dinh Độc Lập / Independence Palace: 07:00–18:00 daily, as of October 2026).

Emergencies Police 113 · Fire 114 · Ambulance 115 (voice calls, free). For international-standard care: FV Hospital, emergency (028) 35 11 35 00. Save your host's phone number too.

Arriving at Tân Sơn Nhất Airport (SGN)

Tân Sơn Nhất is about 13–14 km by road from the homestay. It has three terminals; check your ticket for the terminal.

Which terminal? As of October 2026: T2: international flights. T1: domestic flights of VietJet Air. T3: domestic flights of Vietnam Airlines, Pacific Airlines, VASCO, Bamboo Airways, Vietravel Airlines and Sun PhuQuoc Airways (Southern Airports Corporation / Vietnam Airlines). Airlines can move terminals; check your booking.

Distance & time Road distance to the homestay: T2 13.03 km, T1 12.74 km, T3 14.06 km. Estimated car time in normal traffic: about 29–30 minutes. In rush hours (roughly 07:00–09:00 and 16:30–19:00), in heavy rain or in the days before Tết, allow 45–60+ minutes.

Grab (recommended) Book a car in the Grab app after you have your luggage. Grab's official HCMC car fare (grab.com, as of October 2026): GrabCar 4-seat from 25,000 VND for the first 2 km, then 9,000 VND/km plus 300 VND/min; 7-seat from 30,000 VND, then 11,000 VND/km. On that basis a trip to the homestay works out at roughly 133,000–152,000 VND (estimate, as of October 2026) for a 4-seater in normal conditions. Surge pricing (rush hour, rain), a night surcharge (10,000 VND, 22:00–05:59), tolls and airport fees are added on top, so the app may show more; third-party guides quote up to 250,000–300,000 VND. The app always shows the final price before you book. Estimate as of October 2026; varies with time of day and demand.

Grab pickup points As of October 2026: T3: ground floor, PNA car park. T1: lane D1. T2: follow the "Ride-hailing / Grab" signs to the car park. Grab charges no airport surcharge for pickups at T3.

Xanh SM (electric taxis) Xanh SM (international brand Green SM) runs electric taxis and app cars at all terminals. As of October 2026: T3: lane A, pillars 11A–15A; T1: taxi at pillars C3–C6, app cars lane D2; T2: lane A, pillars A1–A4. Metered fares in HCMC start at around 27,500–34,400 VND for the first 2 km (unofficial fare table). Estimate as of October 2026; varies with time of day and demand.

Metered taxis If you take a regular taxi, use the official queue and well-known companies (Vinasun, Mai Linh); make sure the meter is running. Avoid touts in the arrival hall and fixed-price offers well above the app price.

Airport buses Bus 109 runs between T3 and the Saigon Bus Station (Bến xe buýt Sài Gòn, Công viên 23/9, District 1 area), roughly from early morning until late evening; fare about 15,000–20,000 VND (sources differ). Bus 152 runs T1/T2 – Bến Thành – Trung Sơn during the day; fare 5,000 VND. Estimate as of October 2026; varies with time of day and demand. No bus goes directly to the homestay: take the bus to the centre and a Grab from there. With luggage, a direct Grab or taxi is much easier.

Before you leave the airport Get a SIM/eSIM (see "SIM cards & eSIM"), withdraw a small amount of cash at a bank ATM, and send your host your flight number and estimated arrival time.

Getting around

Ride-hailing apps are the easiest way to move around Hồ Chí Minh City. Walking is fine for short distances in the neighbourhood.

Grab The most widely used app: GrabCar (4 or 7 seats) and GrabBike (motorbike taxi). Price shown upfront; pay by card in the app or cash. English interface. Check the number plate, driver name and photo before you get in.

Xanh SM / Green SM Electric cars and motorbikes (VinFast) from the company GSM. English app; you can also wave down its green taxis. International cards (Visa, Mastercard, JCB) are accepted in the app, but some foreign cards fail; cash is the fallback. A Vietnamese phone number makes sign-up easier.

Be Vietnamese app with motorbikes (beBike) and cars (beCar). Sign-up works best with a Vietnamese (+84) phone number; foreign-card support is not guaranteed, so plan to pay cash.

Xe ôm (street motorbike taxi) Traditional motorbike drivers wait at corners. Agree on the price before you get on, insist on a helmet and keep your bag in front of you. An app motorbike (GrabBike, Xanh SM Bike, beBike) is usually cheaper and safer because the fare is fixed.

City buses Cheap (a few thousand đồng per ride, e.g. 5,000 VND on route 152; airport bus 109 costs more) but slower, with few English signs. Use Google Maps for routes; routes change from time to time, so check the app or the stop before you ride. Estimate as of October 2026; varies with time of day and demand.

Metro Line 1 HCMC's first metro line runs Bến Thành – Suối Tiên (towards Thủ Đức), opened 22 Dec 2024. As of October 2026: fares 7,000–20,000 VND cash (6,000–19,000 VND cashless); 1-day pass 40,000 VND, 3-day pass 90,000 VND; contactless Visa, Mastercard, JCB, Amex and UnionPay cards are accepted at the gates. Trains run from early morning until late evening; check current hours at the station. The metro does not reach Tân Hưng; take a Grab to Bến Thành first.

Walking Footpaths are often used for parking motorbikes or as shop space, so you may need to walk at the edge of the road. Watch for motorbikes riding against the flow, and see "Crossing the street" above.

Showing the address Drivers rarely read English addresses. Show the Vietnamese address with diacritics (accent marks) from this guide or from Google Maps. Since 1 Jul 2025 addresses no longer include a district (Quận); see the box "New ward names".

Common scams & how to avoid them

Most visitors have no trouble. These are the tricks reported in the Vietnamese press; knowing them is usually enough.

Shoe shiners Someone starts cleaning or "repairing" your shoes without asking, then demands a very high price. Say Không, cảm ơn (no, thank you) firmly and walk on. Tuổi Trẻ reported an organised group in central HCMC in 2026 that also pickpocketed tourists.

Coconut & street sellers A seller puts a coconut, fruit basket or hat in your hands for a photo, then asks for a big sum. Ask the price first and don't accept items you didn't ask for. Vietnamese media reported a case of 330,000 VND for one coconut (2025–2026).

Taxi meters & note swaps Rigged or "fast" meters, long detours, or a driver who says you paid with 10,000 instead of 100,000 VND. Use app rides with upfront prices, or Vinasun / Mai Linh taxis; pay with the exact amount and count the notes aloud. Vietnamese newspapers reported a taxi driver swapping a 200,000 note for 10,000 in Jan 2026.

Fake Grab drivers Someone approaches you saying "Grab?". Only get into the car that the app assigned: check the plate number, car model, driver name and photo. If they don't match, don't get in and report it in the app.

Airport touts Avoid people offering rides inside the arrival hall. Use the Grab/Xanh SM pickup points or the official taxi queue.

Money changers Change money only at banks, licensed exchange counters or authorised gold shops/agents. Exchanging at unlicensed places is illegal; the buyer can also be fined (Decree 340/2025/NĐ-CP, effective 9 Feb 2026).

Fake visa websites Many look-alike sites charge extra for "express" e-visas. The official portal is evisa.gov.vn.

Bag snatching Thieves on motorbikes sometimes grab phones and bags. Keep your phone away from the kerb side, wear bags across the body, and don't hold your phone out while standing on the roadside or riding pillion.

If something happens Report to the police (113) or the HCMC tourism hotline (028) 1022, then press 8 (HCMC Department of Tourism, 2025), and tell your host.

SIM cards & eSIM

A local SIM gives you a Vietnamese number (+84), which helps with ride-hailing apps and deliveries.

Where to buy Official mobile-operator counters (e.g. Viettel) are in the T2 arrival hall after customs. Buy only from official counters or shops; unofficial sellers may sell SIMs that are later blocked. You must show your physical passport.

Example prices (Viettel tourist plans) From the official Viettel page, SIM card price extra: 5G60T 60,000 VND – 5 GB/day, 7 days; 5G80T 80,000 VND – 5 GB/day, 15 days; 5G150T 150,000 VND – 5 GB/day, 30 days; 5G180H 180,000 VND – 5 GB/day plus calls, 30 days. Airport counters often sell bundles at about 290,000–300,000 VND for 30 days (traveller reports). Compare with the official prices. Estimate as of October 2026; plans and prices change.

Face check As of October 2026, foreigners' passport-registered SIMs must be verified with a facial biometric check (Circular 08/2026/TT-BKHCN, in force since 15 Apr 2026). If the SIM is later moved to another phone, outgoing service can be suspended until you verify again. Tip: do the registration in the phone you will actually use.

eSIM bought abroad A data-only travel eSIM from an international provider needs no Vietnamese registration, but gives no +84 number (fine for maps, Grab and messaging). Check that your phone supports eSIM and is not network-locked.

Wi-Fi Most cafés, restaurants and malls offer free Wi-Fi; ask for the password: Mật khẩu wifi là gì?

Money, ATMs & tipping

The currency is the Vietnamese đồng (VND). Exchange rates move; as of October 2026 one US dollar is roughly 26,000 VND. Check a live rate before you exchange.

Banknotes Notes only (coins are no longer used). Common notes: 10,000 (tan-brown), 20,000 (blue), 50,000 (pink-red), 100,000 (green), 200,000 (red-brown), 500,000 (cyan-blue). Notes from 10,000 up are polymer (plastic). Small notes (1,000, 2,000, 5,000) are paper.

Mix-ups to avoid 20,000 vs 500,000: both are blue; the 500,000 is longer (152 mm vs 136 mm) and a lighter cyan-blue. 10,000 vs 100,000: different colours (tan vs green) but the same number of digits at a glance – count the zeros. Keep large and small notes in separate pockets.

"k" prices 50k = 50,000 VND; 1.2tr or 1.2 triệu = 1,200,000 VND.

ATM tips Many ATMs limit each withdrawal to about 2–3 million VND; foreign cards are usually charged a fee per withdrawal (traveller reports: about 50,000–55,000 VND or a percentage, depending on the bank; estimate as of October 2026). If the ATM or card terminal offers to charge you in your home currency, decline (choose VND); the conversion is usually worse.

Changing cash Use banks, licensed exchange counters, or authorised gold shops/agents that display a licence. Unlicensed exchange is illegal and the customer can be fined under Decree 340/2025/NĐ-CP (from 9 Feb 2026): a warning for amounts under USD 1,000, fines of 10–20 million VND above that, plus confiscation. Bring clean, undamaged notes; torn or old USD notes may be refused.

Cards & QR payments Visa and Mastercard work in hotels, malls, supermarkets, chains and many mid-range restaurants. Street food, markets and small shops want cash. Vietnamese QR payments (VietQR) need a local bank account, but visitors with some apps from China (WeChat Pay, Alipay), Singapore, South Korea, Thailand, Laos and Cambodia can pay at VietQR codes via cross-border links (as of October 2026).

Tipping Not expected and never compulsory. First check the bill for a service charge (5–10% in some restaurants and hotels). If you want to tip: leave small change or round up in restaurants; porters 20,000–50,000 VND per bag; private guides about 100,000–200,000 VND per day; private drivers 50,000–100,000 VND per day (Vietnam tourism guidance, as of October 2026). Tipping app drivers in the app or in cash is optional.

Bargaining Expected at markets, souvenir stalls and with street vendors: ask the price, offer less, stay friendly and walk away if it's too high. Not done in supermarkets, malls, chain stores, restaurants with menus, or for app rides.

Emergency numbers & hospitals

Save these numbers before you need them. Calls to 112–115 are free from any phone.

Emergency numbers 113 Police · 114 Fire & rescue · 115 Ambulance · 112 National search & rescue / incident line (Ministry of Science and Technology; Government decision, effective 15 Sep 2025). Operators may speak little English – ask a local or your host to help, or say your location slowly and show the address card.

Deaf or hard-of-hearing guests 113, 114 and 115 are voice calls only; there is no public SMS emergency service. Agree with your host in advance that you can text or message the host as a backup, and keep the card "Vui lòng viết ra giúp tôi" (please write it down) ready. FV Hospital lists sign-language support.

Tourist police? As of October 2026, HCMC has no dedicated tourist police. In central tourist areas you may see "Trật tự viên du lịch" (tourism order officers, from the city's youth volunteer force working with the Department of Tourism and police) who help visitors (Thanh Niên; government portal). Tourism complaints: (028) 1022, then press 8.

Travel insurance Check before you travel that your insurance covers medical treatment and evacuation in Vietnam, including motorbike rides (policies often exclude riding without a licence or helmet). Hospitals may ask for a deposit or a guarantee from your insurer.

Consulates in HCMC Contact your consulate if your passport is lost or stolen, or if you are arrested or seriously ill. Addresses and phone numbers below come from the consulates' own websites or the official list of the HCMC Department of Foreign Affairs (Sở Ngoại vụ TP.HCM), as of October 2026. Honorary consulates offer limited services and often need an appointment; call or email before visiting. Vietnamese citizens do not need a consulate; overseas Vietnamese travelling on a foreign passport should contact that country's consulate. Full official list of all consulates in HCMC: https://mofahcm.gov.vn/co-quan-dai-dien/lanh-su-doan-tai-thanh-pho-ho-chi-minh

Health, weather & safety

Hồ Chí Minh City is generally safe and welcoming for visitors. A few simple habits keep your stay smooth: take care in traffic, stay cool and use mosquito repellent.

Water & food Don't drink tap water or use it to brush your teeth. Eat food that is cooked and served hot, and drink sealed bottles (US CDC, 2026).

Mosquitoes Dengue is present in Vietnam all year, more so in the rainy season (US CDC; HCMC Center for Disease Control). Use mosquito repellent day and evening, wear long sleeves at dusk, and see a doctor if you get a high fever.

Heat & sun Daytime temperatures are 31–35 °C all year with high humidity. Drink plenty of water, plan walks for early morning or late afternoon, and use sunscreen.

Traffic Traffic is the biggest risk. On a motorbike always wear a helmet (required by law) and keep legs away from the hot exhaust pipe. Riding a motorbike yourself requires a valid Vietnamese or recognised licence and is usually not covered by insurance otherwise.

Rainy season From May to November, short tropical showers usually come in the afternoon – perfect timing for a café, a museum or our rainy-day tips. A light poncho or umbrella is handy. Caught in a tropical downpour? Just pop into the nearest café and wait – it usually passes in 20–30 minutes.

Valuables Use the safe or lock your valuables, carry a copy/photo of your passport, and take only the cash you need for the day.

Solo women travellers HCMC is generally considered safe for women, but harassment can occur, including from unlicensed drivers (UK FCDO travel advice, updated Sep 2026). Use app rides and share the trip from the app with a friend; sit in the back seat; don't accept drinks or food from strangers; keep your host's number saved; watch out for bag snatching from motorbikes at night.

LGBTQ+ travellers Same-sex relationships are legal and there are no criminal penalties (UK FCDO). As of October 2026, Vietnam does not legally recognise same-sex marriage: the Law on Marriage and Family 2014 (Art. 8.2) states that the State does not recognise marriage between people of the same sex; it no longer prohibits same-sex weddings or living together. The UK FCDO describes Vietnam as generally tolerant.

Visa Check whether you need a visa before you travel. E-visas are issued for all nationalities through the official portal evisa.gov.vn (Vietnam Immigration Department). Beware of look-alike agency sites. This guide gives no legal advice.

Dry season Dec–Apr (hottest Apr–May); rainy season May–Nov, mostly short, heavy afternoon or evening showers. Climate normals for Tân Sơn Nhất station (Vietnam Institute for Building Science and Technology; rainfall: WMO), via Wikipedia "Ho Chi Minh City – Climate", accessed 9 Oct 2026

Tết (Lunar New Year) falls in late January or February. Around Tết many family shops, street-food stalls and markets close for several days; supermarkets, malls, chains and larger hotels mostly stay open, sometimes with shorter hours. Transport fills up in the week before Tết, so book early. The city is festive, decorated and pleasant to walk around. As of October 2026: Lunar New Year's Day (Tết 2027) is Saturday 6 February 2027; the official public holiday runs from Thursday 4 to Wednesday 10 February 2027.

Etiquette & customs

Vietnamese people are warm and forgiving with visitors. A few gestures show respect.

Greeting A smile and a slight nod is enough; Xin chào (hello). Use both hands to give or receive things (money, business cards) from older people.

Chopsticks Never leave chopsticks standing upright in a bowl of rice (it recalls incense at funerals), and don't point with them. Place them on the rest or across the bowl.

At the table Wait for the oldest person to start eating. Dishes are shared; take a little at a time onto your own bowl.

Shoes Take off your shoes when entering a home (including ours, if requested) and many temple and pagoda halls.

Temples & pagodas Cover shoulders and knees, speak quietly, don't point your feet at altars or Buddha statues, and ask before photographing monks or worshippers.

Photographing people Ask first (point at the camera and smile). Don't photograph military or police sites.

Heads & feet Don't touch people – especially children – on the head; don't point with your feet.

Keeping calm Raising your voice or getting visibly angry rarely helps and causes loss of face; stay calm and smile, even in a dispute.

Museums & opening hours Don't assume museums close for lunch – many stay open all day. Example: Dinh Độc Lập (Independence Palace) is open daily 07:00–18:00, including weekends and holidays; adult ticket 80,000 VND (official site, as of October 2026). Check each museum's hours.

Bigger numbers: trăm (chahm) = hundred; nghìn / ngàn (ngahn, Southern) = thousand; triệu (chee-oo) = million. Example: năm mươi ngàn = 50,000.

Useful apps

Install these before you arrive, ideally while you still have home Wi-Fi.

Grab Cars, motorbike taxis, food delivery (GrabFood) and grocery delivery. English interface; card or cash.

Google Maps Navigation, bus routes, opening hours and reviews; download the HCMC area for offline use.

Google Translate Download Vietnamese for offline use; the camera mode translates menus and signs.

Zalo Vietnam's most-used messaging app; many shops, hosts and drivers prefer it to WhatsApp. Needs a phone number to register.

WhatsApp Works normally in Vietnam; ask your host which messenger they prefer.

Currency converter Any offline currency app helps you check the zeros on prices.

Your insurer's app & the consulate Save your insurer's emergency number and your consulate's number (see "Consulates").

New ward names (since 1 Jul 2025)

On 1 July 2025 Vietnam abolished the district level (Quận / Huyện) and merged wards (Resolution 203/2025/QH15 and Resolution 1685/NQ-UBTVQH15 of 16 Jun 2025). Hồ Chí Minh City also merged with Bình Dương and Bà Rịa–Vũng Tàu and now has 168 units (113 wards, 54 communes, 1 special zone). Addresses are now written as house number + street + Phường (ward) + city, without a district. Our homestay was in Phường Tân Phong, Quận 7; it is now Phường Tân Hưng (merged from the former Tân Phong, Tân Quy, Tân Kiểng and Tân Hưng wards of District 7). Old names ("District 7", "Phú Mỹ Hưng", "District 1") are still widely used in conversation and on old maps and signs, so drivers understand both. Some apps may still show old addresses.

How times are calculated & sources

Travel times

Distances are measured along real roads and footpaths from the house. Car (GrabCar): road distance at an average of 18 km/h – a realistic Saigon daytime speed including traffic – plus 3 min for pickup and parking; for trips over 20 km (mostly highway) a faster highway estimate is used. Motorbike (GrabBike): the shorter of the car route and the motorbike route (small streets and bridges) at 22 km/h, plus 2 min. Walk: footpath route at 4.5 km/h. Times are rounded to 5 minutes (minimum 5). Where a car route was more than twice as long as the walking route without crossing the canal (a U-turn on a divided road), car and motorbike use the walking distance + 15 %. Rush hour (approx. 7–9 am and 4:30–7 pm) and rain can make trips longer; late at night they are often shorter.

About the information

Place names and addresses are given in Vietnamese exactly as the businesses use them, so you can show them to a driver or search for them in Google Maps. Opening hours, prices and ratings are given only where a source states them; they can change – please check Google Maps before you go. Symbols are shown only where a source confirms them. Information as of October 2026.
